Keynote Description:

Your Contribution Counts:

Appreciation Practices, where Everyone Profits

What if...

...each member of your multi-generational team felt valued, and that their contribution significantly impacted the success of the organization?

What type of culture would it create? What ripple effect would it initiate?

Sponsors, board members, employees, and colleagues want to affect an organization's success. As a leader, you need to let a stakeholder know their contribution counts.

There are many ways to demonstrate appreciation. As a leader, knowing what a person values will guide you on how to appreciate them appropriately. People often join or collaborate with an organization for the money or the profile; they stay for how they are valued.

Turning individual recognition into a culture of appreciation can increase your team's engagement and performance while having them experiencing a heightened sense of purpose - where everyone profits.

What will the audience experience during this keynote?

In a dynamic, interactive presentation, Suzanne will take the audience on a self-reflective journey of assessing what they believe motivates their team. Based on interviews with leaders and neuroscience insight, Suzanne will share what motivates people long-term. The audience will leave with low-cost, easy to implement strategies where team members will feel their contribution counts.

This keynote creates the most significant value to...

For leaders and entrepreneurs who want to attract, engage and retain employees, members, staff, sponsors, or donors.

Keynote is tailored to theme, audience, and desired outcome.
